

Emma Lustres (Spain, 1975) is a Spanish film producer. In 2003 she founded Vaca Films with producer Borja Pena. The company main line of work is the production of audiovisual fiction, focused on feature films for the cinema. Over the thirteen years since its founding, Vaca Films has established itself as one of the top production companies in Spain by developing and producing successful feature films that appeal to both the domestic and global markets, combining quality with commercial value.